Holidays

We all at ATFS wish you and your families a great holiday and a wonderful year ahead. All ATFS students have done great this year and have shown progress in academics. We take pride in their achievements as we look back and see where each of them was in the beginning of 2004 and where they have come during this year. Their progress reports speak for their efforts. We are also gearing up for the prize distribution in April – details to follow later.

Mid Term Progress Reports

All November progress reports are being mailed out with this newsletter. Also note that these are STD (Semester To Date). These show your child's performance on all topics covered during this semester. These may not necessarily show the number of medals that they will be receiving for this semester. Medals are rewarded for performance and completeness. A topic has to be completed before the end of the semester for them to be eligible for the medals. Please feel free to contact me if you have any questions.

Semesters

Due to computer and printer hurdles this month (ouch!), we have been unable to print service catalogs this month. We will be sending the enrollment packets for next semester, by mid January 2005. Last date to submit enrollments is Feb 15th. These will be mailed to you and will also be made available online. These catalogs will include details of Reading, Spelling and Science remote programs.
